'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

For a long time we've been wondering just what can be called a big thrill.

Our's was the day we stood before the altar and quaked, "I do!" not once but twice.

But then, on the other hand, most people have the same thrill.

So we decided we'd quizz friend George So-and-So, who has been places, did things and asked questions.

"George," says we, "what was the biggest thrill you've ever had."

"Well," said George, kind of slowly like, "I've had lots of thrills."

"I've done battle with the best of Germany's aviators high above the battlefields of France."

"I've landed my plane in a shell hole during the heaviest battle in the great war."

"I've proposed to the most beautiful girl in the world . . . and was accepted."

"I've driven my racing car at a hundred miles an hour on a brick track."

"I've leaped from my plane with my parachute, during a dark, stormy night."

"I've been mistaken for rum runners and have been fired upon by the Coast Guard."

"I've been mistaken for Coast Guards and have been fired upon by rum runners."

"I've been shipwrecked and forced to swim seven hours in ice cold water before rescued."

"I've tracked down the elusive Gooftulness in Africa and have shot the rare and extinct Jumptits, that leaps from jag to jag."

"I saw Lindy land at Paris."

"But the greatest thrill I ever had in my life was the morning I woke up, found that all my cigarettes had been smoked, and all the stubs had been thrown away and then found I had an old cigarette stuffed away in my coat pocket some place."

Life was ever thus.

You literature hounds, if you want interesting reading, get "Ex-Mistress," a masterpiece of simple language and humor.

Then, if you've read "Ex-Wife," get "Ex-Husband," and if you don't take it too seriously, you'll get a big bang out of the book.

Andree Story Revealed By Government

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 19.

Salomon August Andree's own story of his expedition's attempt to reach the North Pole by balloon 33 years ago was told tonight by the Swedish government, in a digest based on Andree's diary.

The wavering flight of the balloon northward from Dane's Island, Spitzbergen, its descent on the ice, and the vain struggle southward of its three occupants across the cruel, jagged ice fields were thrillingly revealed, ending in the last optimistic entry almost three months after the start, when certain doom faced the Argonauts.

"With such comrades, one should be able to get through under any circumstances."

So wrote Andree on Oct. 2, 1897, penciling an unwitting valedictory to his two companions Nils Strindberg and Knut Fraenkel. The diary began on July 11, the date of the start, and ended with a fitting farewell on Oct. 2. The expedition probably perished not long afterwards.

Andree, the oldest of the three men who dropped from the skies to the ragged ice fields of the Arctic, revealed in the diary the courage of the little party as they fought their way back toward safety. Andree stood up under the terrible hardships with the strength of a man many years his junior and he constantly spurred the hopes of his two companions, Nils Strindberg and Knut Fraenkel, with words of courage when necessary or with jokes.

The diary did not reveal the actual cause of the descent of the balloon on the ice, although it mentioned that Andree opened the two valves of the big bag to permit a safe landing on July 14. The men were confident when they started their long homeward trek over ice and Arctic waters that they would reach safety, but they were forced by weather conditions when they reached White Island to prepare a camp for the winter.

3 MARRIAGES OF GIRL PILOT ARE REVEALED

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19.—UP—The marital relations of Ruth Alexander, aviatrix killed near San Diego, Thursday when her plane crashed during an attempted one-stop transcontinental flight, became more complicated tonight.

The aviatrix had been married three times, it was revealed. She divorced her first husband, Aldon Fannelson, of Cleburne, Kans., at Richmond, Mo., on June 9, 1926, married Maj. P. Arthur, an Olathe Kan., farmer and left him two years later "to get somewhere in the world."

Although a divorce suit filed against her by Arthur still is pending, she was married to Ensign Robert Elliott, navy flier.

Marriage Unknown
Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Blaney, of Irving, Kan., said they did not know of her first or third marriages.

The union with Fannelson was her first. She was married as "Ruth Blaney of Irving, Kan." at the Richmond courthouse Oct. 20, 1924. June 9, 1926, she divorced Fannelson for desertion. He did not even appear at Richmond to contest the suit, circuit court records revealed.

Two years later, she married Arthur at Olathe, where she was proprietor of the Cupid's Paradise Beauty shop. After living three months on her second husband's farm, she left him and went to San Diego where she learned to fly.

Bandits Obtain Cash At Camp

A checkup yesterday of the robbery at the Peak-A-Boo auto camp in El Cerrito early yesterday morning, revealed that the bandits obtained only a few dollars from Russell Widdison, who was forced at the point of a gun to open the cash register.

According to Widdison's report to police, the bandits entered the service station in a big car and asked to have the oil checked. While he was doing this, he said, one of the men covered him with a pistol and ordered him to open the cash register.

The bandits cleaned out the register, which had only a few dollars in it, and leaped in their car and fled.

MEMBERS OF GROUP AT MEETING

Nearly 90 members of the Richmond Rotary club joined in welcoming Arthur Crites of Bakersfield, district governor of Rotary at a meeting in the Hotel Carquinez last night.

The weekly meeting of the club was held in the evening instead of at noon to enable Crites to pay his official visit.

The meeting followed a 6:30 dinner, and was presided over by George Thornton, president of the club.

Talk Made
Crites was the principal speaker of the evening, basing his talk on "Rotary Principles and Ideals."

In his talk Crites lauded Rotaryism, and was especially enthusiastic over the yearly international meetings of Rotary clubs.

Crites declared that the Rotary club was the only organization of its kind that held annual international meetings, and these meetings are one of the greatest aids towards promoting better feeling among nations. Next year's international meeting will be held in Vienna.

The speaker also discussed the way a Rotary club should function and the duties of its members.

Program Held
During the evening, entertainment was furnished by Gay Vargas' Red Peppers, and community singing was led by Lud Johnson.

The tables were beautifully decorated by Mrs. George Thornton with red gladioli from the Thornton garden.

A special meeting of officers, past presidents of the club, and committee chairmen was held with Crites before the dinner.

The meeting was held in the office of Superintendent of Schools Walter T. Helms and was devoted to outlining the club's program and discussing matters of interest to Rotary officers.

Stocks Take Another Drop
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—UP—Stocks crashed 1 to 9 points today in the most severe reaction in weeks, which brought prices back to where they were in the first week of August.

The incentive to selling was a report that a Fascist coup d'etat was to be made in Berlin. Wall Street buzzed with the rumor and when it gained circulation, German bonds were forced down sharply and reactionary tendencies spread to all stocks.

The German rumors were given official denial but reassurances only temporarily halted the decline around noon and brought some short covering in the last few minutes.

In addition to the German rumors, what broke sharply and rallied only slightly: several companies reduced or eliminated dividends; brokers warned clients to be careful in purchases; business reviews were less optimistic and traders were perplexed over the $75,000,000 increase in brokerage loans in a week when prices were declining.

A. C. Coster Back From Deer Hunt
A. C. Coster, local fire man, and Richard Bruno of Richmond, returned yesterday from a four day hunting trip in Siskiyou county.

Coster reported that the pair had a lot of bad luck and he did not even get a shot.

However, Coster reported a pleasant trip and said he enjoyed the scenery.

Driver Fined On Driving Charges
Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, Lamberto Alday of north Richmond was fined $100 in the court of Police Judge C. A. Odell.

RAID PARTY CAPTURED BY RUM RUNNERS

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 19.—UP—A dozen gunmen waited in ambush within the Sunrise brewery here today, disarmed a raiding party of seven dry agents and shot and killed one of the invaders.

The gangsters, who apparently had been forewarned of the raid, then made good their escape.

John G. Finelli, 44, attached to the prohibition enforcement office in Philadelphia, was the agent who lost his life. Eight bullets entered his body.

The raiders were led by Robert Young, special supervisor for breweries in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. One agent was left outside while the others followed Young into a court-yard. On the other side of this open space they entered a boiler room.

Here Young called a halt and divided his party, ordering his men to round up the brewery employees and bring them to the boiler room.

Guns Taken
Before this order could be obeyed the gunmen entered. Presumably they had been waiting in the brewery office across the street and had crossed stealthily on a bridge connecting the two sections of the plant.

The embattled "defenders" had their weapons drawn and the agents were completely surprised. One gunman grabbed a federal man and, standing at his back with a revolver inserted under each arm, ordered the others to line up and be searched. The agent thus served as a perfect shield in case one of the agents tried to fire his revolver.

The disarming went on without interruption until one gangster noticed that Finelli was standing a little apart from the others.

Shoots Man
"There's Finelli!" he shouted. "Give it to him!"

Shots rang out and Finelli pitched forward—dead.

As soon as Finelli had dropped the gunmen fled from the boiler room and crossed the courtyard. At the street door they encountered E. C. Malloy, the agent who had been left on guard. They took his weapon from him and then ran around the corner where police believe motor cars were waiting.

Johnson, who is an employee of the Hydraulic Dredging company, was working on a barge laden with pipe when he lost his footing and plunged into the bay. Fellow workers said his body sank immediately, leading to the belief that Johnson had struck his head on the side as he fell.

BOY TO FACE JUSTICE COURT

Two robberies in Richmond were confessed to by David Bennets, 17, of Santa Rosa, according to reports made by Richmond police yesterday.

Bennets was returned to Richmond from Fort Bragg last night by Capt. of Police L. E. Jones and Sgt. Harry Donnelly.

Questioned by Chief of Police Dan Cox and his officers, the youth was said by police to have readily admitted that he robbed the W. R. Stribley jewelry store on Aug. 21, and to have robbed the D. C. Bettencourt home, 5353 Zara avenue, Richmond.

Loot Recovered
Police reported that all of the loot taken by the youth, with the exception of a sum of money, has been recovered.

In the robbery of the Stribley store two watches, a diamond ring, a sum of money and a gun were stolen. All of the articles with the exception of the diamond ring were recovered, police say.

In the Bettencourt robbery, a watch valued at $50 and $90 in cash were stolen. The watch was recovered, police say.

The youth will face Justice of the Peace A. A. Alstrom this morning on first degree robbery charges.

Sent to Court
As he is a minor, it is expected that he will be certified to the juvenile court.

Credit for the arrest of the young alleged burglar may be given to Police Chief Dan Cox.

Chief Cox started working on the case the day the Stribley robbery was discovered. Through clues and a "tip" Chief Cox learned of the suspected burglar.

On Sunday night the Bettencourt home was broken into. Chief Cox immediately launched a hunt for Bennets, but found that he had disappeared.

Learning that the youth was reported to be heading for Fort Bragg, he wired the authorities of that locality.

When Bennets stepped off the train there yesterday morning he was placed under arrest.

Police are attempting to connect Bennets with a number of other robberies committed in this city.

SAN LEANDRO BEATS LOCAL ELEVEN

The Richmond Union High school varsity grid warriors were repulsed by a score of 6-0 at the hands of the San Leandro High school eleven yesterday afternoon at San Leandro.

The lone score of the game was made at the end of the first quarter. Dutton, San Leandro halfback, succeeding in coming from the Richmond 30 yard line to the five yard line on a run. He followed the locals' right end, Dutton, followed this sensational gain by a run around Richmond's left end that resulted in the winning touchdown.

The Richmond defense was insufficient to halt the swift drives of the San Leandro gridders. San Leandro held the upper hand almost all the way through the first half.

Richmond showed a great increase in strength during the final half. In the last quarter they bore down hard upon the San Leandro line, but to no avail.

The first quarter opened with Rosano of Richmond kicking off to San Leandro's 20 yard line. For a short period, the play was largely in the middle of the field. San Leandro finally started its series of line plunges and end runs that resulted in the lone touchdown. The San Leandro kicker failed to convert.

Richmond kicked off to San Leandro's 30 yard line. An end run brought the ball to Richmond's 40 yard line. The Richmond line held the Cherry City boys for no downs, and Rosano executed a short punt. San Leandro brought the ball back to Richmond's 10 yard line, where the quarter ended.

In the second quarter, San Leandro fumbled, and Richmond recovered. A series of four punts, two by each squad, followed. The final punt, by San Leandro, was recovered by the San Leandrans on Richmond's 30 yard line. Richmond then received the ball. Rosano passed to Drexel, Richmond end, for a 10 yard gain. Another pass from Rosano was intercepted by San Leandro about the 50 yard line. The play ended.

Richmond kicked off to San Leandro's 30 yard line, and the San Leandro athletes brought the ball to San Leandro's 42 yard line. San Leandro punted to Richmond's 25 yard line, and Richmond punted back to its own 48 yard line. The San Leandrans had commenced their driving tactics when a pass was intercepted by Rosano on his own 38 yard line. Rosano brought the ball to the 50 yard line, and four punts followed. The punting episode ended on the local's 35 yard line and Richmond starting driving through in a series of line plunges with George Miller and Rosano carrying the ball to San Leandro's 42 yard line.

In the final quarter, Rosano passed to Passone for a 10 yard gain. The local's attack was halted on the 30 yard line when a

CARDINALS WIN AS CUBS BEAT PHILLIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The St. Louis Cardinals moved nearer the National league pennant today by winning the first game of a 5-game series from the Phillies at Philadelphia, 7 to 3, and increasing their lead to 2 1-2 games over the idle Brooklyn Robins.

The Chicago Cubs retained a slim chance at the flag by winning from the Braves at Boston, 5 to 4, and going into a tie with Brooklyn for second place, 2 1-2 games from the top.

If the Robins and Cubs win all their remaining games, the Cardinals will have to win only three out of eight games left to play to tie for the flag and only four out of eight to clinch the pennant.

The Cards came from behind with a characteristic rally to beat the last-place Phillies. With the Phillies leading, 3 to 2, by virtue of Chuck Klein's 37th and 38th home runs of the season, one of which came with a runner on base, the Cardinals staged a five run rally in the seventh inning to win the game.

A ninth inning rally at Boston enabled the Cubs to stay in the race. With the score tied 4 to 4, Hartnett doubled and scored on George Kelly's single.

Not that it had any bearing on the pennant race but the New York Giants scored an impressive 7 to 0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds at the Polo Grounds. Bill Walker, who has been bad when the Giants need him and good when they haven't, pitched a two-hit game.

With Brooklyn swinging back into action tomorrow, the Cardinals by a double victory over the Phillies and defeats for Brooklyn by Pittsburgh and Chicago by Boston can just about clinch the pennant.

If the Cards win a double-header and the Browns and Cubs lose, St. Louis will have to win only two out of its remaining six contests to tie for the pennant.

4 Brothers On U. C. Grid Squad

BERKELEY, Sept. 19.—Two "brother acts" on the University of California football team will engage the attention of fans during the coming season.

Captain Handy is on the first string; his brother is on the second string. In the spring season Carl is a wrestler, Don a boxer—both heavyweights. Carl Handy holds the Pacific Coast Conference and Far Western titles in his class.

Two other Gills, Frank and Harry, completed varsity football careers at California in 1928 and 1929 respectively. A fifth football-playing brother is now in high school at Santa Maria.

PRICE NAMES SQUAD FOR GAME

BERKELEY, Sept. 19.—Forty-seven football players are listed on the University of California varsity squad which will face Santa Clara September 27 in the first game of the season. The list was released today by C. M. "Nibs" Price, head coach.

The California mentor could put four complete teams on the field if he choose, according to the list, and it appears likely that many of the men selected will see action in the first game. Price has gathered together four men for every position in the line and backfield, except at halfback, where 11 men will be available, an analysis of the roster indicates.

About three-fifths of the men chosen for varsity duty were named among the varsity squad members of the 1929 season; sixteen of these are lettermen, but many of the others gained little or no varsity playing experience last season.

Only nine of the 1930 squad members were drawn from last year's freshman team. The balance of the squad is made up of members of last year's "goof" squad.

Here are the men on the Golden Bear squad, listed by the positions they will play. The cities from which they are registered in the university are also listed:

Ebright Will Continue As Crew Coach

BERKELEY, Sept. 19.—Carroll M. "Kyk" Ebright, coach of champion rowers, and his assistant, Russell Nagler, will continue in charge of University of California crews for another three years at least after their present contracts expire next July. The executive committee of the Associated Students has renewed the coaches' contracts for a three-year term.

The term of the contracts is in accord with a policy of the ASUC whereby no coaching contract extends over a period greater than one college generation. W. W. Monahan, graduate manager, explained today.

Both coaches are former University of Washington coxswains. Both came to the University of California in 1924, and after a patient building process Ebright produced a brilliant eight that defeated all opponents for the undisputed championship of the world at the Olympic games of 1928 in Holland.

POP WARNER TO USE FORMATION C. TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—UP—The first showing of Glenn Pop Warner's newest formation at Stanford and a basis upon which to estimate the power of Northwest teams this year will hold interest when the college football season opens on the Pacific coast Saturday.

Warner has announced that the Cardinals will use formation C against the West Coast Army team at Stanford stadium and more than 15,000 persons are expected to be present to see whether it is as effective as formations A and B have proven to be.

Even the veteran coach is hesitant to say what may happen with the third formation he has invented. It is expected to improve his punting game, forward and lateral passes, but its value on Warner's famous reverses must be determined in actual combat with the soldiers who he'd the strong Olympic Club to a 19 to 13 victory last Sunday.

In the Northwest, Oregon and Oregon State swing into action. The state university, which tied for first place of the conference last year, will oppose Pacific university, while Oregon State is meeting Willamette university.

Dr. Clarence Spears, new Oregon mentor, is expected to tell his men to be cautious and not give away their real strength unless Pacific proves to be stronger than they anticipate. Coach Paul Schuster of Oregon State, holds a different view and will probably ask his men to score as much as they can.

In the fourth game of the day, University of Santa Clara will have a work-out against California Agricultural College at Sacramento. The Santa Clarans will be scouted because they meet California next week and Stanford the following Saturday.

Vincent Richards In Tennis Finals

The Trade-mark

OLD SILVERSMITHS, in order to help people tell pure silver from cheaper imitations, marked the real thing "sterling."

In a like manner, manufacturers, who stand back of their wares, identify them with trade-marks that are your guarantee of quality. By advertising these trademarks, they focus on their products the searchlight of attention.

Only good goods, fairly priced, can flourish in this light of publicity. For no merchandise and no business can thrive under the weight of public condemnation.

That is why a manufacturer, or a merchant, places the whole reputation of his business at stake every time he advertises. His goods must be as advertised.

So, in looking through this paper, remember this: the man who spends his money to invite your consideration of his wares backs up his belief in his goods and leaves the final decision to you.

It pays you to read the advertisements. It pays you to buy advertised products.

SAMOA ISLANDS GOVERNMENT DISCUSSED

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 19.—UP—The congressional Samoan commission tonight to determine here today whether a government should be established under the American flag in Samoa that would recognize communistic principles.

Witnesses before the commission, which is headed by Senator Hiram Bingham, gave information that lands presently held by tribes and even some privately owned property are subject to seizure and redistribution by Samoan chiefs.

The commission delved deeply into the question and sought everything that might help them decide whether or not they should disturb the traditional Samoan system of tenure.

Lorrin A. Thurston, publisher of the Honolulu Advertiser, suggested to the commission that the government might recognize the tribal ownership of communal lands and at the same time encourage initiative among the Samoans by opening lands that are not now held communally, or are unoccupied and unworked, could be parcelled out as individual holdings.

Land Question
The publisher said quite a percentage of such lands are available.

Victor Houston, delegate of Hawaii in congress, offered the suggestion that the organic law might be drafted so that it would distinguish between communal lands, unoccupied lands and town-site lands, part of the latter being held in fee simple.

He said Samoa never could be a state or an organized territory but might become a "dominion" with American advisers.

Houston urged that Samoans be given citizenship with provisions that their land would not fall into alien hands.

Witnesses Called
Senator Bingham made a statement of tribute for Thurston and other residents of Honolulu who had brought the status of Samoa before congress. Thurston said he did not favor discrimination between Samoans and those who have only part Samoan blood.

He said that he believed a representative government should replace the present naval government in which the governor supreme can proclaim laws, declaring this is not an American principle although the United States navy had discharged well its trusteeship.

Another witness before the commission today was Nelson Tutile, representing the Samoa Civic association of Honolulu, who urged the commission to give Samoan citizenship, a territorial status, and by jury. He advocated immigration rules to bar Orientals and reciprocity between British and America Samoa.

WHEAT SOLD SHORT BY REDS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—UP—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde today charged that the Soviet government of Russia was selling wheat short on the Chicago market. In a telegram to John A. Bunnell of the Chicago Board of Trade, Hyde asked what provision the exchange "has made or can make for the protection of our American farmers from such activities."

Investigation by the agriculture department, Hyde said, disclosed the "short" sales, that is, contracts for future delivery of grain at prices lower than present prices, were made by the all-Russian textile syndicate. This is a subsidiary of Amtorg, Soviet Russia's United States trading agency.

The syndicate has acknowledged the short-selling, which has amounted to 5,000,000 bushels so far, Hyde said.

Attack Made
This is the second time the government has attacked Russian trade in this country, the first action being to embargo temporarily imports of Russian pulpwood on complaints by Americans that it was produced by convict labor.

Wheat dropped today to new lows on the Chicago market, closing at 1.3-5 to 5-8 cents a bushel off, with other grains sagging sympathetically. September wheat is now around 81 cents, and it is at this particular time that a large part of the 1930 crop of American wheat is being put on the market.

Hyde's telegram to Bunnell made public at a special press conference late this evening, said:

Probe Made
"An inquiry was undertaken by the department of agriculture in consequence of certain rumors. This inquiry revealed beyond all question of doubt the heavy short selling of wheat upon the Chicago market by the Russian government."

"There can be no question that this selling has contributed to the fall in the price of wheat and to the injury of American farmers now engaged in their intensive marketing season. Obviously it would be impossible for Soviet Russia to deliver grain in Chicago over our tariff of 42 cents a bushel. I should be glad to know from you what provision your exchange has made or can make for the protection of our American farmers from such activities."

Senator Brookhart, Repn., Ia., a farm bloc leader and critic of administration farm relief, laughed heartily when informed of Hyde's telegram by the United Press, and commented:

Gambling Hit
"Maybe Hyde will decide as I have long ago decided that the Board of Trade should be put out of business. If the report is true, it is one of the finest condemnations of the system of grain gambling. The Farm Board itself turns its subsidiary agencies has been doing the same thing. Short selling is a fraud to start with—if you sold a horse you didn't own you'd be put in jail—and the farmers have been robbed for years through the dealings of the Board of Trade."

"The thing for our government to do is to buy up the wheat surplus. If it did that, we can soak those Russians. We've created the Farm Board to protect the farmers, and I don't see why Hyde is calling on the Board of Trade to do it. The idea is ridiculous. What is our Farm Board for?"

Small Portion
Hyde said it was obvious the Russian sales were made without any intention of delivering wheat. But, he said, the process of selling futures depresses the wheat although the 5,000,000 bushels admittedly sold short by the syndicate represents a small proportion of the 16,000,000 bushels annual turnover in the Chicago wheat pit.

Explaining the department's control over future trading, Hyde said the grain futures act provides, among other things, that before being licensed, an exchange must take precautions against price manipulation.

Asked directly whether failure of the Chicago Board of Trade to deal with the problem of short Russian sales might jeopardize its license, Hyde said:

"I'm going to hope the grain exchange will voluntarily and peacefully make regulations guaranteeing a fair price to the American crop. I am now examining my authority. Hitherto the Chicago Board of Trade has co-operated in other matters."

Department legal opinion, Hyde said, was that once a license was granted there was no authority under the grain futures act to withdraw it.

HAWAIIAN ISLE HAS BIG BIRTH RATE, REPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—UP—While Eugenicists seek to fashion a modern superior man and anthropology searches for the prototype in the lost ages, a more or less casual merging of two distinct races, without benefit of science, is producing a species of high achievement.

Down on the south Pacific in the "melting pot" of Hawaii, where east meets west successfully, Kipling to the contrary, the early mixing of Chinese with native Hawaiians has produced a people "superior to either factor in the racial combination."

Such are the conclusions of Dr. H. L. Shapiro, anthropologist from the American Museum of Natural History, who arrived here aboard the Matson liner Matsonia from Honolulu where he is carrying on a two-year study of human genetics in the Islands.

"Basing our studies on fundamental laws of heredity, it appears the recombination of traits as manifest in the Chinese and early Hawaiians make for a gain in intellect and achievement rather than a decline," Dr. Shapiro said in an interview.

"Many outstanding men in the islands today trace their lineage to this combination," he said explaining that his conclusions, as yet, were based upon a preliminary survey.

He explained that the people, not only display intellectual gain but are splendid physically and enjoy excellent health and long life. They increase rapidly, Hawaii having one of the largest birth rates in the world, while the death rate is low.

The noted scientist was loaned to the University of Hawaii by the American Museum for a two-year period of study on the subject. He expects to spend a vacation of a few months in his home in Boston returning to the islands to resume his survey.

PRISON TERMS FOR RUM MEN DEMANDED

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 19.—UP—Prison terms for four former prohibition officials were demanded by Leslie Salter, government attorney, when he opened arguments before the jury in the Lyle-Whitney conspiracy and bribery trial late today.

Salter declared that evidence showed that Roy C. Lyle, suspended prohibition administrator, William Whitney, his legal advisor, and Earl Corwin and Richard Fryant, former agents, guilty of accepting bribes; cooperating with bootleggers and rum runners, and conspiring to break the prohibition, bribery and tariff laws. He asked that they be sentenced to prison.

Attorneys arguments were started as the long proceedings of the northwest's biggest prohibition trial neared an end. Both defense and government had completed introduction of testimony when court adjourned at noon, and Salter opened the arguments when the afternoon session convened.

Federal Judge Frank H. Norcross denied a defense motion for directed verdicts of not guilty for the four defendants. The defense also lost motions to strike from the records the testimony of Jack McBride, who accused William Whitney, reputed boss of the alleged conspiracy ring, of soliciting and accepting bribes in 1923 and charges of Joe Cvitkovic against Corwin.

These developments occurred after the defense had paraded numerous character witnesses to the stand to testify in support of the defendants' reputations.

Following Salter's opening argument, Defense Attorneys A. R. Hilen and Charles Moriarty will argue for the four defendants, then Attorney Savage, United States attorney, will close for the government before Judge Norcross instructs the jury and turns the complicated case over to the 12 men who will decide the fate of the former dry officials.

Court will convene again tomorrow, instead of taking the usual week-end recess in an attempt to bring the trial to an end as quickly as possible.

SAVANT GIVES LECTURE AT BUDAPEST

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 19.—UP—Dr. Vern O. Knudsen, associate professor of physics of the University of California at Los Angeles, recognized as one of America's leading authorities on acoustics, delivered a paper on the subject of "Architectural Acoustics" before the Twelfth International Congress of Architects meeting here. His paper contained a general survey of and summary of architectural acoustics at the present time in the United States and America.

In his paper he stated that at least six laboratories in the United States are now testing absorption, insulation, speech-articulation and other problems in architectural acoustics, and that frequently professional consultants on acoustics are retained by architects or owners to work with architects during the entire design and construction of a building. The fees for this work range from $100 to $1000, he said. Manufacturers often provide acoustical surveys and engineering service gratis, and many large firms contract acoustical treatment under guarantee.

During the course of his paper he took occasion to refer to the B'Nai B'Rith Temple in Los Angeles and the Hollywood bowl as examples of acoustics.

"It is quite usual to plan acoustics in advance of construction," he said. "The B'Nai B'Rith Temple, Los Angeles, a large, difficult room with a volume of about one million cubic feet was treated with acoustical plaster, carpeted floors and upholstered seats, and has excellent acoustics for both speech and music. The reverberation time is 1.65 seconds with a capacity audience. Hundreds of theaters, churches and school auditoriums could be cited as other successful examples. Nearly all large public buildings are now designed to have good acoustics."

"Speech tests in three large auditoriums, before and after acoustical correction, showed an average improvement in articulation of from 55 to 79 percent. Similar improvements have been obtained in hundreds of other rooms."

In speaking of theaters he said upholstered seats were commonly used in acoustical correction, but that some accommodation was provided by different stage drops. "Reflections delayed as long as 40 feet or more, especially from curved surfaces, are detrimental," he continued. "Echoes from a rear wall in one auditorium and from a domed ceiling in another mar the acoustics. In rooms which otherwise have ideal reverberation."

"Speech, articulation falls off to 75 percent in a quiet, open space at about 125 feet in front of, 100 feet to the side of, and 75 feet behind the speaker. The presence of a slight wind or slight audience noise, greatly reduces these limits. At Hollywood bowl, loud speech can be heard distinctly at a distance of 300 feet music at 550 feet, but dramatic dialogue only about 125 feet."

"Mocking Bird" Whistler Was "Tree Sitter"

MONTREAT, N. C.—The "Oklahoma Mocking Bird," Miss Esther McRiser, has revealed herself as one of the early "tree-sitters" although her activities in that field were not aimed at an endurance record. Miss McRiser is spending the summer here.

"When I was a girl," said Miss McRiser, "I enjoyed nothing more than climbing up a tree in our back yard and staying there for hours. I would practice all my bird calls, and it was most amusing to see one of my pets go around looking for a cat when I would imitate a cat bird."

"But I used my time when a 'tree-sitter' not merely to practice whistling—and tantalizing my pets, but in studying my school books so I would know my lessons perfectly. So climbing a tree in early girlhood has enabled me to climb in scholarship, and in my career as a whistler."

"I am in favor of tree-sitting, for reasonable periods, when boys and girls employ the time for preparation and improvement," the "Mocking Bird" declared.

Miss McRiser was graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1922. For some time she represented the Southern Presbyterian

QUAKE STUDY MADE ON COAST

BERKELEY, Sept. 19.—UP—Members and guests of the National Academy of Sciences which is now holding its first western meeting in the 67 years of its existence, were informed of the work that the University of California and Stanford are doing to add to the world's understanding of earthquakes, to make use of them for scientific study of the interior of the earth, and to minimize their damage.

Lydik Jacobsen of Stanford university explained that scientists at that institution have constructed an apparatus which reproduces the major movements of the earth's crust during an earthquake, and on which they are planning to build model engineering structures as a means of testing the stability of various construction designs. The apparatus consists of a large structural steel platform, nine by 12 feet, mounted on street car wheels, which is capable of executing, either simultaneously or independently, two types of vibration in one direction.

Perry Byerly, seismologist at the University of California, reported that as a result of a study of the records of the California earthquake of November 23, 1929, he has reached the conclusion that the thickness of the granitic layer under the Sierra or Pacific region is about 30 kilometers, and of the intermediate layer of the earth's crust about 35 kilometers. By comparing this data with previous studies of the earth's crust under the Pacific ocean, he stated, indications are obtained that these two areas are not in isotactic balance, that is that one portion of the crystal layer is heavier than the other.

Information concerning the thickness of the crustal layers is obtained by timing the arrival of the various earthquake waves at stations some distance from the center of the quake disturbance. From this data and the length of the waves, the velocity can be determined. This velocity, in turn, can be used to estimate the thickness of the layers through which the waves have passed. Professor Byerly studied the records left by eight types of waves from this quake, as received at 11 different seismological stations.

Alimony Up-to-Date

TODAY is the day when Supreme Court Justice Untermyer opens the jail doors for the latest alimony victim, Julius Nicolas Tompers, who has served a year for non-payment of the weekly $25 assessed against him. Tompers parted from his wife many years ago. All modern-minded, self-respecting women, who are as resentful as any man of the abuses to which the institution of alimony is subjected, must be glad that Mr. Tompers is getting out. For what on earth is the justice, or the common sense, of locking up a man for not paying alimony when, as long as he is locked up and a non-producer, he can't pay anyway? Here, it seems to us, is a perfect illustration of the vicious circle.

This would also seem to be Judge Untermyer's opinion. What he said from the bench, while denying the motion of Tompers's first wife, Beulah, that he be recommitted to jail, is worth quoting:

"Whatever may have been the facts concerning alimony previously unpaid, I am satisfied that the defendant is without means to pay the present sum, and it is self-evident that this condition must continue as long as he remains incarcerated. His commitment now would be tantamount to imposing a sentence for life on the defendant for the arrears must necessarily accumulate as long as he remains in jail.

"Such a course would be of very little benefit to the plaintiff, and since the defendant is unable to pay it is not necessary to vindicate the mandate of the court with which the defendant has failed to comply."

Another significant factor in this case is the introduction of evidence to show that the first Mrs. Tompers admittedly had need of the money for which she was keeping her onetime spouse under lock and key. He asserted that she is in the real estate business and collects rents from property which she collects rents.

His second wife, Mrs. Bertha Tompers, testified that the first Mrs. Tompers had told her she was doing "better than the average" financially and didn't need the money but wanted to keep Tompers in jail "until he pays in full." She announced her intention, it was said, of teaching her former husband a lesson.

Whether the facts of the case are exactly as stated in this evidence, or whether the first Mrs. Tompers might have another story to tell, we naturally cannot say. But every woman knows that there are plenty of instances when alimony is not its only excuse for being—the financial protection for children or for a sick, old, helpless wife—but is an instrument of mean feminine vengeance. We repeat—intelligent, self-respecting wives of today seem to use alimony in this fashion. In fact, they scorn to use it at all.

More than $5,000, it was announced the other day, was claimed in the alimony bank of Brooklyn Family Court. Paul J. Donnelly, court clerk, said that pride kept many divorced women from claiming their alimony. "I wouldn't take the money if I had to starve to death," they say.

An Albany woman, recently asking for a divorce, wanted no alimony because, she declared frankly, she could earn a better living than her husband. On almost the same day, Mrs. Frieda Whiting of Los Angeles, known in musical circles as Frieda Stirling, concert conductor—obtained alimony, perhaps that experience will explain my reluctance.

When you buy canned goods you pay a retailer's profit only on the finished product, for the manufacturer figures his costs on a low wholesale price made possible by the vast quantities which he buys.

You and Your Child

By Irma Morris

The Lazy Child

"MY BOY was left back," a mother confided to me, in tragic tones. "He's very smart. He's just plain lazy."

What a blanket term this is! If Jimmy neglects to mow the lawn, or Alice to hang up her clothes, they are dubbed lazy. When Arthur falls behind in arithmetic and Mabel forgets to do her homework, fond parents and teacher ascribe this to laziness.

But children are not born lazy. In fact, nearly all healthy youngsters are extremely active, both mentally and physically. When they are unwilling to do their tasks, just assured there is a reason. It is just as dangerous to blame every failure to do what is expected on laziness as it is to blame all baby ailments on teething, in both cases the child needs to be studied and the basic cause for the trouble located.

Indolence and lassitude are often caused by malnutrition, lack of sufficient sleep, constipation, encumbering or actual presence of disease, or other physical difficulties.

In nine cases out of ten, laziness is a misnomer for lack of interest. When a child dislikes his teacher, or is in a class where the work is too easy for him, too difficult, or else is presented in a dull, mechanical fashion, he loses interest. The result is that during class room work his mind wanders to other things in which he is really interested or to day-dreaming. If such a child is given a teacher and work that will elicit his interest, you will see how very alert and industrious he will become!

Very often, after a youngster has lost interest in his work and has fallen behind his class, he begins to feel a sense of inferiority. He looks upon himself as a failure. It is very difficult for a discouraged person to make an effort. We have, first of all, to revive the child's confidence in himself, by dwelling upon his successes along other lines, and by noticing and praising every sign of improvement in his school work.

At times the child whom we are calling lazy is really slightly retarded mentally and is not capable of doing better. A child's capacity is the first thing to be looked into when he falls behind. How unfair to hold him to a standard too high for him!

There is no use in meeting laziness by scolding, sarcasm, or arguments about the value of industry. Rather, when a youngster is indolent, at home or in school, let us look for the reason.

Keeping Baby Amused

A BABY becomes tired of the same surroundings for too long an interval. Even a very young infant will stop whimpering if turned on his other side where he has other objects to attract his attention.

One busy mother kept her baby thus amused for hours while she performed her household duties. After feeding the child she let him in the high chair with a toy. When he grew restless she placed the chair at the window where he could watch the activities in the street. Later she placed him in his pen and as he lost interest in one toy she replaced this with another. Still another change was to place him in a door swing and a safe hobbyhorse was another change. Victrola records proved good entertainment for this child.

This mother never held her baby and she never had to sacrifice her time to amuse him. He never was cross because he was a healthy baby and the thoughtful mother kept him occupied.

Incidentally she was teaching her child to be amused without any demands upon others. What the mother did, really did not interfere with the performance of her duties and she had a happy contented child who became self-reliant through this wise training.

TELLING THE WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

HERMAN SEDLITZ today introduces at the captain's table and in the press another important phase of the international yacht races. Mr. Sedlitz needs no introduction to the public as an expert and authority on yachting. He was the man who invented the luffing maneuver in that famous sport, luffing consists of inviting a pretty girl out on the back porch of a yacht in the moonlight and giving her a good time. Mr. Sedlitz eventually became known as the Great Luffer and the song, "I Can't Give You Anything but Luff," Baby, was dedicated to him.

J. Herman Sedlitz also inaugurated many other nautical reforms, such as boxing the compass with eight-ounce gloves and installing an emergency brake alongside a ship's steering wheel. In today's stupendous installment Mr. Sedlitz describes in detail the start of an international yacht race.

YACHT RACES START

By J. Herman Sedlitz

THE night before the cup races start, the crews of the Shamrock and Enterprise attend an all-night party to say farewell to their friends. If the next day's race should run into a dead calm, they won't be back for weeks.

It is customary at these bon voyage parties for every one to get pretty well plastered and half the crew members show up on the racing yachts next morning in dress suits. The other half don't show up at all.

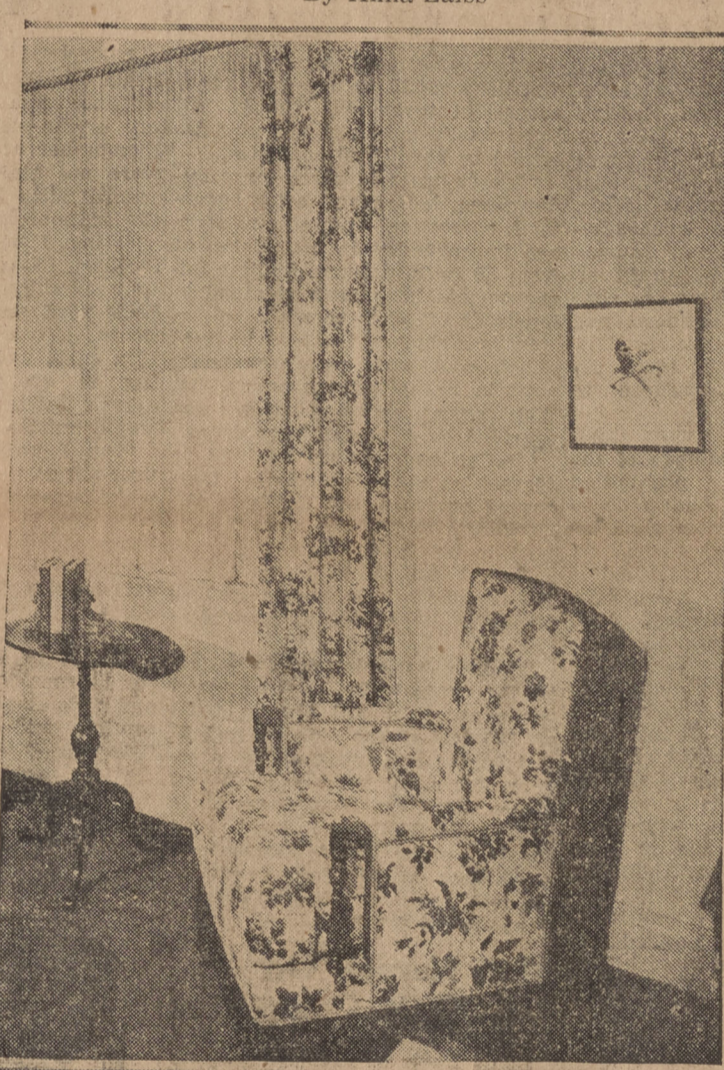

At the bon voyage party, friends postcard most of the crew and ask them to be sure to send back picture postcards from Brenton's Reef or to bring back a pair of size 6 1/2 ladies' suede gloves from Block Island or Point Judith. The crew members say they'll do that little thing and then start in again singing "They Were Only Playing Leapfrog."

Well, the next morning the men that are sailing on the Enterprise and Shamrock come down to the yachts with their baggage and begin kicking because some of the crew have inside staterooms. So they go down and complain to the purser, who says he'll try to fix them up after the yacht passes Sandy Hook. (That is why this year's races are being held off Newport—so the yachts won't go by Sandy Hook and the purser won't be bothered again.)

Then the crew men rush into the dining room and try to arrange for

IN THE BEDROOM THE NORMANDY CHAIR IS INDISCRIBABLY QUAIN AND COMFORTABLE TO LIVE WITH

Dear Miss Zaiss: We are considering furnishing a three-room apartment this fall and would sincerely appreciate any and all information and help you can give us regarding furnishing same.

The amount we are figuring on spending is $2,500. At present the wife is in the country, but will go into the city for furniture about two days of each week and thinks it advisable to just look around first. Can you advise us as to just how to go about doing this?

Also, we planned on an oak bedroom set (old colored) and would appreciate any assistance along this type of furniture, although any other suggestions will be gratefully accepted. All information regarding the living room is desired as we have no ideas on same. Thanking you, we are Mr. and Mrs. R. D.

A Plan That Follows No Set Pattern

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

AS stated in the last problem, it is impossible to give correct recommendations for an individual home without knowing the size of rooms, location of doors and windows, and the arrangement of rooms with relation to each other also has a large influence upon the final selections. We have merely used these sketches, inadequate letters from two of our readers to illustrate points of general interest for all who may be faced with the problem of buying furniture during the sales without knowing where or what the prospective new quarters will be.

With $2,500 to spend for the furnishing of a three-room apartment, and following as nearly as possible the preferences suggested by Mrs. D., we would advise a plan of individuality, keeping away from the hackneyed scheme that revolves around too familiar "suite" and groups that are merely good without being distinctive.

In the living room it would be worth while to buy several really good pieces of furniture. By careful planning Mrs. D. can do this and have a very lovely little apartment without overstepping the limits of the amount available. A few good general selections that may be used as a guide are the following:

We would advise a good sofa, such as a Lawson or Tuxedo, and not a cheap one of either type. The inexpensive sofa (unless it is had at half price or a great reduction) is the material poor, regardless of who is said about it. For good labor and good work never go below certain levels. A good sofa is a lifelong investment; a poor one is a lifelong disappointment.

Then, instead of getting two chairs to match the sofa, Mrs. D. might get one Lawson or Tuxedo chair and another over-stuffed chair of quite different character—perhaps a good wing or a modified barrel chair. And again we advise her not to skimp. Get good furniture for these main pieces for they will last for years and years to come.

A medium-sized gateway table is always useful and lends itself to many occasions, performing gracefully as side-table, serving table or dining table. And we caution Mrs. D. to get a good simple type that is not more than 40 inches when extended; an even smaller one will do. We would get this table in the dark oak and insist on one without variations or additional curves in the top. Just a plain round or slightly oval table, preferably a round one.

There should be one or two other stands or tables, such as the smaller round tripod tables, which are easier to use than the rectangular stools and make a prettier room. Mrs. D. could, perhaps, use two, one about twenty inches in diameter and one smaller. And they should be fairly sturdy, to go with the other furniture. There should also be two or three straight chairs, either with or without arms. These might be of the sturdy colonial type, either mahogany or Windsor. They come in great variety, and it would be difficult to find chairs that are really good in design.

It would be best not to buy a secretary or desk before knowing just what the wall spaces and architectural features of the living room will be. Such a piece might prove a white elephant afterward—and it is always

CA DISH CA DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

The old-fashioned housewife would be agghast at the small stock of home-made preserves and pickles the modern homemaker puts up during the summer months. Her amazement would be lessened, however, if she lived in a New York apartment or in a small suburban home for just one winter. It isn't sheer laziness on the modern woman's part that makes her buy her canned goods in small amounts at the corner grocery instead of putting them up in large quantities, in most cases it is a quiet desire to have the living room to live in instead of making it a storage room for preserves.

A few summers ago, while visiting in New England, I launched forth on a campaign of home canning. Fruits, vegetables, jams and jellies, pickles and catsups and chutneys grew to imposing array in my hostess's lavish cupboards.

When I left she insisted on sharing them with me. Two barrels, no less, followed me when I came back to town. As I was living in a rooming apartment at the time, disposing of them was no small problem. The kitchen had been efficiently planned and there was not an inch of spare space or bare shelf room. So picked peaches reclined in a fireplace beside a screen, strawberry jam edged my hats into the corner of a chest closet shelf and jellies and pickles fairly bulged from the side cabinets of an old-fashioned desk. If I do not urge you to great feats of home can-

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

TWO BOYS WILL FACE BERKELEY CHARGES

BERKELEY, Sept. 19.—Dominick Bertone, 21, 321 Thirty-first street, and Raulo Ferrari, 18, 180 Virginia street, both of Richmond, are being held in the Berkeley city jail in lieu of $500 bail each, and Albert R. Frock, head of the vice detail of the Berkeley police force is in the emergency hospital, as the result of an alleged fight after Frock had arrested the youths for speeding early this morning.

X-rays were being taken tonight to determine if Frock had concussion of the brain, sustained, according to police, when Bertone hit him over the head with a piece of rubber packing.

According to police reports, Frock and two undercover agents were driving north on San Pablo avenue near University avenue, when a roadster containing the three youths, flashed by at a high rate of speed.

Frock immediately gave chase, overtaking the youths at San Pablo avenue near Solano. His two companions jumped from the car to arrest the youths, but the driver of the speeding machine, according to police, suddenly whirled around and fled west on Buchanan street to Adams street and then north to Solano avenue, where it stopped.

Gives Chase
Frock gave chase without waiting to pick up his companions, pulling alongside the car containing the youths when it stopped.

According to police records Frock started to handcuff Ferrari, who is said to have been arguing with him, when Bertone stepped behind the officer and slugged him with a piece of rubber packing about 14 inches long, Frock said.

In the mix-up that followed, Frock declared Ferrari struck him in the mouth with his fist, and Frock fell to the pavement. He drew his gun, and blowing his whistle, held the boys at bay until the two undercover agents appeared.

Bertone and Ferrari admitted to police today that they had "three drinks of wine" earlier in the evening, and were racing with another automobile when Frock took up the pursuit.

"We didn't want to get caught for speeding" they are alleged to have told police today.

A third youth, Thomas Tamblin, 22, 504 Nevin avenue Richmond, who informed police he saw his companions beat the officer, was freed because he did not join in the attack.

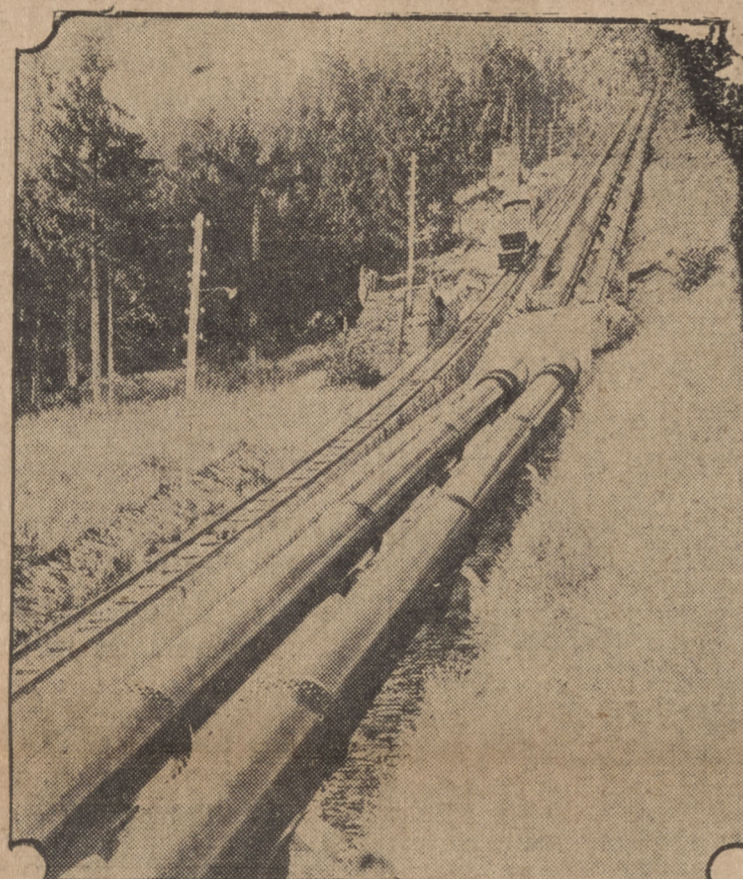

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon may be placed against Bertone, police say, and Ferrari will be held on a complaint charging battery and resisting arrest.

LECTURES ARE SCHEDULED AT U.C.

BERKELEY, Sept. 19.—UP—Announcement was made today that the subject of the University of California Sather classical lectures to be given September 24; October 1, 8, 15 and 22; November 5 and 12, by Prof. Martin P. Nilsson of the University of Lund, Sweden will be: "The Mycenaean Origin of Greek Mythology."

The specific lecture titles under this general heading will be: September 24, Oct. 1, 8, 15 and 22, "Mycenaean Centers and Centers of Greek Mythology," including "Argolis," "The Peloponnese," "Southern Boeotia (Thebes)," "Northern Boeotia and Thessaly (Orchomenos and Iolcos)" and "Attica".

November 5, "Hercules" and November 12, "The Political Organization of Olympus."

Professor Nilsson is expected to show the correlations between the Greek mythology and the mythology of the Mycenaean culture which preceded it, and to reveal the connecting links which make it doubtful whether the Greeks are entitled to all the credit which they have received in the 2000 years which have elapsed since the decline of the Greek civilization.

In this field of study Professor Nilsson is considered to be one of the world's leaders. At the University of Lund he is professor of ancient history and archeology, and he is considered to be the most competent living student of Greek religion. His "History of Greek Religion," an Oxford Press publication, is probably the best ever printed, according to Greek scholars, as is also his "Minoan, Mycenaean Religion." He has written in five languages, Swedish, Latin, German, French and English and has already lectured extensively in England and Wales.

The lecture will be given at 8 p. m. in Room 312, Wheeler Hall. They will be open to the public without admission charge.

MARRIAGES OF DEAD FLIER REVEALED

fly. Arthur filed divorce proceedings, on March 6, 1930, charging her with abandonment.

Return Body
The divorce suit still is pending. "When I heard she was flying I decided she was out of my class, so I filed a divorce suit, Arthur said. 'I waited for her to come back before I had my attorney file the suit but she never did like the farm.' Arthur still lives on his property.

Funeral rites for the flier have not been set, her parents at Irving said. The body will be returned there.

INQUEST TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 19.—UP—Mingled emotions were felt by Ruth Alexander, pretty young aviatrice, before she took off yesterday on what she hoped was to be the most ambitious solo flight ever attempted by a woman but which ended in her death on a little hill top near here.

In her last room after the crash were found several notes. One to her secret husband, Ensign Robert Elliott of Brooklyn, asked him to carry on his work in case she died so that she might be proud of him.

Happier Life
"Please don't wish me back. I have gone to my happier life and I shall await you there," read another letter addressed to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Blaney of Irving, Kansas.

A third gave implicit instructions for her funeral which she wished to be simple. She asked to be buried "where there are trees and sunshine and flowers."

But, after writing these notes, Miss Alexander evidently believed that she had a good chance of flying from Lindbergh field in San Diego to New York with only a refueling stop in Kansas.

Felt Confident
This was evidenced by the fact that she carefully placed two of her dresses where the hotel maid would find them and asked that they be cleaned and pressed by the time she returned to San Diego.

A federal government investigation of the crash of the heavily-loaded little airplane was started today with the arrival here of R. H. Lees, airplane inspector for the department of commerce.

Leading theories are that the plane went into a spin as Miss Alexander circled to rise above a heavy fog or that one or both of the wings snapped off as the aviator tried to gain altitude with her heavy load.

Inquest Set
Miss Alexander's body will be held by the county coroner pending an inquest Saturday. It was believed that interment will be made in Kansas, but there has been no decision.

Ensign Elliott told the United Press in Brooklyn that he might fly to San Diego.

Mystery Disease Germ Uncovered

PORTLAND, Sept. 19.—UP—With the germ that caused violent illness of more than 100 students and faculty members at Reed college Wednesday definitely identified as para-typhoid, Dr. William Lavine of the state health office continued his investigation late today in an effort to determine the source of the germ.

All sufferers had thoroughly recovered today.

The para-typhoid germ, Dr. Lavine explained, was related to the typhoid germ but seldom results in death. He said it could have been carried either by rodents or humans.

U. S. SENATOR Wesley Jones of Washington makes no denial of authorship of the "Five and Ten" dry law, but was quick to deny rum runners had contributed to his campaign funds in 1926. ## Hope Abandoned For Lost Crew

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—UP—Two empty life boats of the steam schooner South Coast were found by the Coast Guard boat Cahokia near Cape Blanco on the Oregon coast today, it reported to headquarters here.

There were only three life-boats of the steam schooner South Coast when it sailed from Crescent City, last Tuesday with a cargo of logs and since one of them was located by the steam boat Lake Bonhow Wednesday afternoon, hope for the safety of 19 men on the schooner were almost given up by Mariners here.

There remained the rather remote possibility that a small ship without a radio had picked up Capt. Stanley Sorenson and his crew of 18 men and was slowly making its way to port or that the sailors had been able to swim to shore.

Jack Berg Will Meet Petrolle

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—UP—Jack Berg, England, and Billy Petrolle, Fargo, N. D. lightweights, were matched by Madison Square Garden for a return bout October 10.

In their first bout at Chicago August 24, 1928, Petrolle scored a knockout over Berg in five rounds. The Englishman was down 11 times before his seconds tossed in the towel.

Philadelphia Smoke Nuisance May Be Curbed

PHILADELPHIA.—UP—Satisfactory tests have been made here of an invention which may eliminate 80 per cent of Philadelphia's smoke nuisance, according to engineers.

Phillip Hannigan, chief power engineer for the General Electric plant here, is inventor of the device. He says that 80 per cent of the smoke ejected from stacks is due to imperfect combustion and that a slight adjustment of the air intake would remedy the condition.

In the average engine room, situated below ground level, the engineer has no way or knowing whether his stacks are smoking, Hannigan said. Even if his attention were called to it, he does not know which one of his three or four boiler furnaces is not functioning properly and in making adjustments he would be just as likely to make the situation worse.

Hannigan's invention flashes an instant warning when it becomes necessary to make a furnace adjustment. Change of wind direction and other causes of imperfect combustion are indicated on the instrument which also denotes the particular boiler affected. When used in connection with a carbon dioxide indicator, a German invention, Hannigan's device is said to be a perfect indicator of the combustion behavior of a fire-box.

The inventor's instrument taps the exhaust pipe of each boiler furnace and passes a jet of the exhaust gas in front of a "painted glass" panel which is illuminated from behind by an electric light bulb.

Municipal Judge Dailey Stafford did not agree with the women's attorney that a manslaughter charge should be returned as no motive for murder had been shown.
